AN ORGANIC, RENEWABLE GARDENING PROJECT

BY: ALLYSON NOVAK

The STEM classes are starting a project that is devoted to student awareness and involvement in renewable resources and organic food production. They will design, plot, and develop their own organic garden. To create this organic garden, they will need savvy engineers and scientists. To get them started they will use things they already have, but they can use donations of the following items: Work gloves, small spades, vegetable seeds and cuttings, flower seeds and cuttings, herb seeds and cuttings, twine, mulch, wheel barrows, wooden stakes, measuring tapes, hoes, plastic containers, magnifying glasses, topsoil, mallets, and index cards. All donations are appreciated! Bring these supplies to room 1132 between now and November 1st.

MESSAGE FROM THE LIBRARY

BY: BRYCE SELLERS

Hey there sharks! The library is going to update some of its books. This includes the section of biographies, so let's try and find some interesting ones for this somewhat dull section. Please come give us your input. Who do you want to read about? We would love to hear your thoughts and ideas! Do you want to read about an artist, musician, someone in government or someone else? Just stop on by the library and let us know!

INVITATION FROM PRINCIPAL RUSSELL

Principal Russell would like to invite parents and stakeholders to Shark Time on Mondays, from 8:00AM to 10:00AM to learn about Sugarloaf School. The first hour will consist of a presentation covering information, initiatives, Common Core Standards and school programs. The second hour consists of a few classroom visits so you can see first-hand what takes place in our classes. During the two hours you will be able to ask questions and provide feedback about Sugarloaf School. Groups will be limited to 3-5 people, so please contact Patti Nicholas at 745-3282 Extension 50303 to schedule your time to see the many great things happening at Sugarloaf School
