

Confidentiality

Confidentiality is essential to the counseling session and information shared in the session cannot be shared with others. I have an ethical responsibility to share concerning information.

Exceptions that may occur for breaking confidentiality are listed below:

- The student discloses that him/herself or another minor may be in danger
- The student discloses intent to harm him/herself or others
- If the student asks or allows the counselor to share certain information